Zone alters memo, but signs

LIVERMORE — Zone 7 directors Wednesday night finally approved a much debated memo of understanding with the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency — but only after they radically altered the version okayed earlier by LAVWA.

The directors struck out a clause favored by LAVWA that the zone would stay out of the sewer business.

Instead, they declared that, upon completion and adoption of an integrated water quality plan, the zone would "implement the plan by, but not limited to, contracting with others or by building and operating wastewater collection systems, treatment works and disposal facilities" to serve the area in need.

In other words, the zone reiterated its prerogative to go into the "sewer business" if after careful study they deem it necessary.

At the suggestion of Director Joseph Concannon, the board also acted to limit LAVWA's wastewater jurisdiction to the boundaries of its member agencies (Livermore, Pleasanton and Valley Community Services District).

LAVWA had voted to take responsibility for wastewater treatment in urbanizing areas outside but adjacent to their jurisdictions.

"We've been designated as lead agency for water management," Concannon said, "and we should be responsible for all urban wastewater not handled by LAVWA."

As amended, the memo of understanding passed by five to two. Directors Robert Becker, Concannon, George Lydiksen, David Harris and Harlan Zodtner approved the memo.

Directors Richard Ryon and Robert Pearson voted against it.

Harris had earlier supported a wording that would give LAVWA responsibility for areas adjacent to their boundaries, but he agreed to the change because he said there was an "overriding need to move forward."

"It's imperative that we say tonight to the other agencies that we are here to cooperate with you," said Harris, "and that we'll sink or swim together."

Ryon, voting against the memo, said he found the wording "frought with problems" and predicted LAVWA would not sign it.

Director Pearson urged the board to postpone consideration of the memo until after the June election. Incumbents Zodtner and Becker are retiring and there will be at least two new board members.

And if former LAVWA delegates Archer Futch and Donald Miller are elected, a memo more favorable to LAVWA could be easily adopted.

But Pearson's suggestion was dismissed.

"You've cried long and hard because there's been no cooperation with LAVWA," said Zodtner. "It's not important who goes off the board. We must put this board on record as making a move. It's important now, and I'm not concerned if it's changed later."

But there are indications LAVWA agrees with Pearson that it would be better to wait for a change in the board.

Retail sales surge nearly double

Retail sales in both Livermore and Pleasanton showed a healthy surge for the fourth quarter of 1975, information just released by the State Board of Equalization indicates.

Total taxable sales in the two Valley cities showed an identical 11.4 percent boost in that quarter, against the previous year. That one - year advance was almost double the gain reported throughout all of Alameda County for the same period.

Livermore continues to set the Valley pace for retail commerce, with fourth quarter sales last year of $22.3 million, against Pleasanton's $11.8 million (Retail sales totals are not reported for unincorporated communities such as Dublin and Danville.)

The two cities had almost identical 12.9 percent increases in taxable sales for 1975's fourth quarter, against the 1973 totals. In dollar amounts however Livermore showed a $5 million gain over that two-year span, while Pleasanton advanced by just $2.6 million. Both gains were, percentage wise, slightly ahead of the county's pace.

Cities within Alameda County reported $880 million in taxable sales for the fourth quarter of 1975, while unincorporated areas (primarily Dublin, Castro Valley and San Lorenzo) were credited with $74 million in sales.

That same report credited Walnut Creek with $64.1 million in taxable transactions for that three - months period in 1975, a whopping $8.5 million jump over that same quarter in 1974, and $13.5 million more than the city's retail sales for that period in 1973.

Hayward's comparable totals were $134 million in 1975, up $23 million from the fourth quarter in 1973.

CSEA files suit against LLL

LIVERMORE — A suit charging Lawrence Livermore Laboratory with violating employes' Constitutional rights of free speech and assembly was filed Wednesday in Alameda County Superior Court by the California State Employes Association.

Naming University of California President David Saxon and LLL Director Roger Batzel as defendants, the suit asks the court to declare a permanent injunction restraining LLL from denying access by outside speakers to employe organization meetings held in the lab auditorium.

It further asks that the court declare the lab's restrictive policy is in violation of employes' rights of free speech and assembly.

The suit stems from efforts by the Society of Professional Scientists and Engineers to have outside speakers address lab employes in the auditorium at the lab.

LLL policy permits SPSE to meet in the auditorium, but prohibits outsiders from addressing the group, citing security regulations.

Outside speakers may address SPSE members in the cafeteria located outside the classified zone.

But SPSE notes the cafeteria is not suitable for meetings during the lunch hour and has a small seating capacity.

The LLL auditorium seats nearly 400 people.

CSEA's suit also claims the lab policy violates provisions of the Myers - Milias - Brown Act, an employe relations law that gives employes the right to organize to discuss job - related matters.

CSEA spokesman Keith Hearn said Thursday the suit was filed because CSEA believes the restrictive speakers policy has been unfairly applied.

The suit cites two separate occasions when non-LLL employes were permitted access to the auditorium: October, 1974 for the United Crusade and October 1975 for the American Association of University Women.

"We are concerned that this rule is being invoked against employe organizations, but not against other groups," Hearn said

A date will be set for a preliminary hearing. Hearn said a temporary injunction could be granted at that time. A later hearing would be set to consider making the injunction permanent.

Those 291 connections

Mission Park protest sparks 30 day delay

PLEASANTON — The 30 - day postponement by the Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board of the city's application for 291 sewer connections apparently was prompted by the recent Mission Park residents' protest.

Chuck Seymour, one of the residential leaders of the protest to the city council Monday night, said yesterday that he talked to a BRWQCB staffer Friday about neighbors' concerns over the 291 connections. He received a call later in the day saying that the staff would ask a 30 day delay of the item to answer "unanswered questions."

There are three "unanswered questions," Dennis Mishek of the BRWQCB staff told The Times yesterday. Basically they are:

— What is the status of the odor problem?

— Will the sewer plant be able to handle the traditonal extra flow of sewage at county fair time?

— How much demand is there for additional sewer connections and what is the city's ability to control the issuance of connections so the plant won't be overloaded and violations of waste discharge standards reoccur?

On the question of odor, the staff intends to conduct an odor survey in areas near the plant sometime before the item comes before the board April 20.

The odor survey will be yet another in a long string of these polls. Several were made last year with the plant getting a bad track record between August and November, said Mishek. That was the period when the plant's odor control equipment was not working properly, said Mishek. Since that time, the city has purchased new equipment, he said.

The worst results in the period came in a survey conducted among 25 residents on Oct. 25 last year. Some 92 per cent of the interviewed residents detected odors since the previous survey (Aug. 20). Sixty per cent of the total sample detected odors at their homes or business locations.

The best record last year came in a July 7 survey during the county fair. Twenty-four per cent detected odors in that survey, but they were mild and limited to the vicinity of Sunol Boulevard.

The most recent survey quoted by Mishek was taken Feb. 5 when 27 people were interviewed. Three said they detected odors and two of them found odors at home or work since the the previous survey Jan. 21.

Assistant City Manager Alan Campbell said a more recent survey taken March 5 showed that only one person complained about odor and believed that was traced to cattle odor in the fields near the sewer plant.

The question of the city's ability to control the issuance of connections so there is no overload is of concern to the city, said Campbell.

"We recognize the need; there are more connections out there than we would like to have, too," said Campbell. "Obviously we have to have a scheme for the capacity of the plant. You can't add a couple of million gallons if the plant can only take a couple hundred thousand."

On the question of the county fair's effect on the plant, Campbell said that people forget the plant's 1.7 million gallon per day treatment capacity is an average. Peaks of 2.6 mgd are going through it daily and the lowest ebb at night is only about .25 mgd. The daily peaks of the county fair for two weeks do not present any insurmountable problems, said Campbell.

In general, the closer the city gets to the upper limits of the plant's capacity, the slower the city will want to go in adding connections, said Campbell.

City goes after post office fence

PLEASANTON — The city took its first official step this week to seek removal of the three strands of barbed wire topping the eight foot fence at the post office.

Council members have been notified that Director of Planning Robert Harris has written a letter to architect Richard Tanaka of San Jose requesting changes in the fence.

Tanaka, a private architect, designed the new post offie building at Black Avenue and Santa Rita Road under a contract with the post office.

The building's design has won praise from city officials, but the fence around part of the lot's perimeter has been criticized by Planning Commission Chairman Walt Wood and Mayor Robert Philcox.

The officials' comments are echoed in Harris' letter. Harris wrote that the barbed wire is the major concern of the planning commission. "They feel it gives an otherwise attractive development an almost penitentiary - like appearance," said Harris.

The redwood slats in the eight-foot tall chain link fence will screen trucks in the lot behind the post office, at least to some degree, but those same slats will "emphasize the height of the fence and give it an exceptionally massive appearance," said Harris. "This detracts even more so from the otherwise attractive development which you have under construction."

Harris said he realized the post office is not subject to local ordinances, but in the "spirit of cooperation with local government," the postal department should try to build in agreement with the local design review board's opinion about the fence.

"Removal of the barbed wire is our major concern, but we also would like to investigate methods of revising the appearance of the fence so that it would be aesthetically more compatible with the rest of the development while at the same time providing the degree of security desired by the postal service," wrote Harris.

An official of the postal service told The Times last week he would investigate to see whether the department will alter the fence. He told The Times that the postal service did install a new fence — an eight-footer with barbed wire on top — at a San Jose post office when people there complained, not about aesthetics, but about poor security of the old six-foot fence.

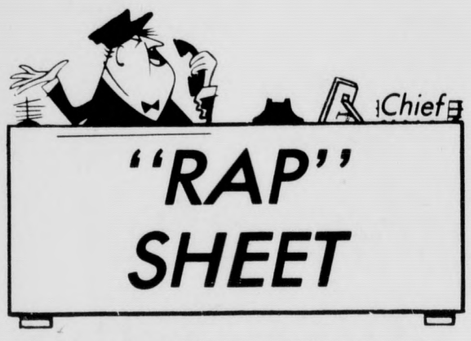
Not having the authority to draft men for military service, Congress and the states used bounties to induce voluntary enlistment. The states started using this device early in the Revolutionary War, and Gen. Washington soon realized that the bounty system was a necessary evil. He recommended that recruits be offered "a good bounty" and at least 100 or 150 acres of land, a suit of clothes and a blanket for enlisting. The World Almanac notes.



Child stealing, robbery suspects arrested

DUBLIN — Two members of a foursome suspected of stealing a child from a Beverly Lane residence late Tuesday were arrested by Sheriff's deputies less than an hour after it occurred

Helen Ferreira told deputies that a man knocked at her door and asked where Davona Drive was located. Ferreira told the man through the locked door that she didn't know, and the man left.

A few minutes later, four people including the first man walked up to her door As she rushed to call police, they began beating at her door and kicked it in seconds later.

One of the men grabbed Ferreira bynthe throat and told her to remain silent, while one of two women in the group went into a back bedroom and grabbed young Damon Ferreira. The four then rushed outside and sped off in a blue station wagon.

Ferreira told deputies she identified one of the suspects as Mary Tillak. Police went to her Hayward home address and arrested Tillak and another suspect

Booked on suspicion of child-stealing, burglary and armed robbery were Mary Tillak, 26, and Louis Miranda, 25, both of 22424 Santa Clara Ave in Hayward

Explosive turn to lab research

They've been doing some unusual things at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory. For example, researchers blew up a wood frame house, and then burned it to the ground.

They blew up a trailer containing large amounts of insulation.

They built and detonated a number of very high energy pipe bombs.

It was all part of a research project to evaluate methods developed by industry for "fingerprinting" explosions so that — even after detonation — police can identify their last legal owner.

The work was supported by the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The explosive detonations were conducted in the protected areas such as the lab's Site 300, where chemical explosives work is done routinely, and at the Nevada Test Site for underground nuclear weapons tests.

Dr. Jim Knowles, head of the project, said it was clear from their studies that "the technology exists today to tag explosives with traces of identifying substances that will distinguish not only one manufacturer from another but one batch of explosives from another."

He said the tagging procedure can be used to help authorities fight the theft and misuse of dynamite and other explosives.

So long as details of the tagging techniques are not revealed, Knowles said circumvention of the system will be virtually impossible.

"This kind of information may not pinpoint a suspect, but it would certainly help police narrow their search," Knowles said. "In a broader sense it could show patterns of theft and criminal activity."

Information on the lab's findings, and the strengths and weaknesses of tagging materials and techniques, were provided to the U.S. Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

The Bureau has responsibility for regulating the manufacture, sale and use of explosives in this country.

LLL researchers review results of one of their "planned" explosions, part of a project to "fingerprint" dynamite and other explosives. The information can be used by law enforcement officials to trace the explosives to their last legal owner.

Estrella may move three trees

PLEASANTON — Sophia Estrella won the right to remove three poplar heritage trees Monday night on a 4-1 vote of the city council.

Mrs. Estrella wants to remove the trees because she thinks the swimming pool she will install will be hampered by the growth of the trees' root system. Leaves from the tree could disturb the pool, too, she felt.

Councilman William Herlihy voted against the motion to grant Mrs. Estrella the right to remove the trees. Herlihy said he agreed with a staff report by Director of Engineering Services Don Sooby which felt only one diseased tree of the three should be removed.

Sooby thought that the trees were far enough from the proposed swimming pool so the roots would not present a problem. He said the prevailing wind would blow leaves away from the future pool.

Later in the meeting Councilman Ken Mercer suggested that the city change its review policy on heritage trees. If a tree is more than 50 percent diseased, the staff should have the power to allow the homeowner to remove it.

As it is now, the homeowner spends what Mercer thought was an unnecessary evening at the city council while the council reviews the item, he said. The staff said it would come back with a proposal to change the policy's language to allow what Mercer asked.

Isler named to chair team

Roy Isler of Amador Valley Joint High School District has been appointed by the State Department of Education to serve as chairman of a team to review vocational education programs and activities in the Los Banos Unified School District.

He will head a team of education experts in an in-depth look at how well the school district is providing vocational education for high school students and adults. A month-long self-study by the school district will be capped by the review team's visit.

Isler, as the team chairman, will organize the team's activities and will be in charge of developing a report of recommended actions to improve the district's vocational education.

The State Educaition Department randomly selects 20 districts throughout the state every year for review. Program improvement and accountability are the purposes of the district review system.

Japan trip slated

Toyota sponsers student travel

TORRANCE, Calif. — Toyota will sponsor 10 high school students in summer travel to Japan this year as aprt of a unique international bicentennial project.

"Write on America," an essay contest sponsored by Youth for Understanding (YFU), an international student exchange organization, is offering trips abroad to 184 winners. Toyota will sponsor the students selected to spend two months next summer living with a Japanese host family.

The contest is part of YFU's "Bicentennial Courier Project," which has been designated the official international youth program by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA). Winners of the contest will be designated official "Bicentennial Couriers."

"These young people will create a greater awareness of the bicentennial by extending the celebration beyond America's borders," said Isao Makino, president of Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. "At the same time, we believe they will help promote greater international understanding."

Makino said each Toyota courier will carry bicentennial greetings from local and state officials and organizations in the United States for presentation to local, prefectural and national officials in Japan. The couriers will also be encouraged to speak to groups about the bicentennial and American life in general.

Students between the ages of 15 and 18 in 29 states are eligible for the program. One Bicentennial Courier will be chosen per million inhabitants in each state.

The couriers will be picked by YFU on the basis of written essays and their ability to meet YFU selection standards. The essays, of 700 to 1,000 words in length, will relate to the three themes adopted by the ARBA: Heritage '76, Festival U.S.A. and Horizons '76.

Juries of distinguished citizens in each state will judge the essays. Winners will be named by April 1.

Toyota sponsors another student program, also coordinated by YFU, under which 10 high school juniors are sent to Japan each summer to live with a Japanese host family. It is open only to the children of employes of Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., its dealers and distributors.

'Search for your supper'

DUBLIN — Not only will you sing for your supper but you'll have to search for it too on Friday, March 26. Friendship groups of the Evangelical Free Church of Pleasanton will repeat last year's successful progressive dinner, which is more like a "meal treasure hunt."

Groups will meet at Ferne Peterson's home, 553 Gerard St., Pleasanton, at 7 p.m., who will co-chairman the event with Dolores Hoover. Ferne gives each car, which might include two or three couples, an envelope with the teasing lines: "Search for your supper, try if you will. Now come on and see what you can do. Look now here's your first clue..."

Ferne is tricky enough so that each group of couples gets a different clue. She never mentions the name of a street; so, if your clue has something to do with Edgar Allen Poe, you might have to figure out she means "Raven Street."

Everyone is invited to join in on the fun for the nominal cost of $1.50. Call Mrs. Hoover, 846-8863.

Early reservations can save campers from park rate hike

If you're camping and going to parks more this year to save money — get your reservations now, before the rates go up.

Like everything else, state park fees are going up noticeably. Since the last general fees increase in 1967, costs have tripled, according to State Parks and Recreation Director Herbert Rhodes.

So, on April 1 family campsites are going from $3 to $4, primitive campsites will be $2 instead of $1.50 per night, sites with facility hookups will go from $4 to $5, off-season camping permits are doubling, from $10 to $20.

But if you get your reservations now, you can pay the old rates, Rhodes promises.

Here's a complete rundown on state park rates, old and new:

Day Use

Used to be free for anyone entering on foot, goes to 25 cents; was $1 per car, will be $1.50; ws $3 per bus, going to $5.

Horse camps, going from $1 to $1.50 per vehicle, from 25 cents to 50 cents for each additional horse over two.

Annual permit, going from $10 to $15 per year.

Camping

Hookups, from $4 to $5 per night. Improved campgrounds (table, stove, food cupboard, flush toilets, drinking water, improved roads, hot showers, laundry) $3, will be $4 on April 1.

Undeveloped campsites with chemical toilets, table, water supply: going from $1.50 to $2.

Group camps: Remaining the same: 50 cents per person per night, adults, 25 cents ages 17 and under, minimum $10 per night per group.

The reservation fee for campsites and group camps remains the same — $1.50 per site for each period reserved, payable when reservations are made; $2.50 per group camp.

Horse camps: going from $2 to $3 with up to two horses; 50 cents each additional horse (going up from 25 cents.) $4 per site per night for Los Caballos Campground at Cuyamaca Rancho State Park (now $3.)

Boat camps: $2 per site per night, now $1.50.

Off-season: $20, now $10, good for 10 nights of camping at designated units during the off-season, winter in most campgrounds, summer in desert units.

Additional motor vehicles will continue to be charged $1 per night in campgrounds.

It will be worth $1 a night to you to keep your dog in camp instead of the current 50 cents a night.

There's a new category of camps this year, trail camps. Most will be near the coast and all will cost 50 cents per night per person for the hikers and bikers using them.

Special use

Boat facilities, including all day-use facilities: $3 per vehicle and boat, up from $2.

Boat facilities only: $1.50 per day, up from $1.

Annual boat and day-use permit: going from $20 to $30.

Angel Island boat mooring: $1.50 per day, up from $1; $3 if boat takes up two spaces.

Brannan Island State Recreation Area: Overnight, $4, day-use berthing $1.50, holding tank pump-out $1 per use.

Historic Units

Most state historic parks and museums going from 25 to 50 cents per person; 17 years and under, free.

San Francisco Maritime State Historic Park: 75 cents, youths 25 cents — no change from past year.

State vehicular recreation areas:

Trail bikes: $1.50 per day, up from $1. Motorcycles over 80 cc, $3 per day, now $2.

The hard part is deciding which parks to use and where to get your tickets.

Maps and brochures on the many state parks are available from: Distribution Center, Department of Parks and Recreation, P.O. Box 2390, Scramento, CA 95814.

Tell the department what areas you are considering and they'll send individual brochures on the campgrounds. They also have a brochure listing all state parks, noting facilities at each.

Tickets are available through any Ticketron outlet. The nearest ones to the Valley are Zellerback Hall in Berkeley, Sears in Concord and Hayward or Montgomery Ward, Stockton.

Sons of Italy

The Sons of Italy Tri-Valley Lodge No. 2348 held their first annual Nite at the Races recently at Bay Meadows Race Track. Assistant Venerable John DeVita and Recording Secretary Traci DeVita are shown presenting flowers to Angelo Weyrick, owner of "Laderago," winner of the purse. A national, non - profit fraternal organization, the group meets every third Friday (tonight) at Homestead Savings and Loan in Dublin. Anyone needing more information can call 846-8155.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

In London on Jan. 20, 1775, the weary William Pitt, Earl of Chatham, took the floor of the House of Lords and delivered a blistering attack on his colleagues: "Resistance to your Acts was necessary as it was just, and your vain declarations of the omnipotence of Parliament, and your imperious doctrines of the necessity of submission, will be found equally impotent to convince or enslave your fellow-subjects in America." Chatham was the foremost of the friends of America in Parliament. The World Almanac recalls.

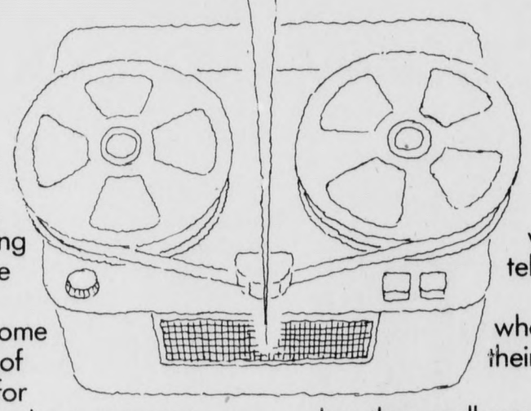
If you call 411 a lot we'd like a few words with you.

"If you've checked your directory and are unable to find the number you wish, please stay on the line and a Directory Assistance Operator will answer. Thank You."



Before long you'll be hearing that recording every time you call 411. It'll come on just before the Operator.

We're putting it on because, even though some people have cut down on their calls to 411, a lot of people still haven't. Many of them are still calling for numbers that are listed in their telephone books, and our expenses are higher than ever.

The problem is that a few people–about 12%–make more than half of all these unnecessary calls. About 2 out of 3 of our customers call without looking in the book first. And you know that everybody winds up paying for all those unnecessary telephone calls.

So the recording is there to remind people who call for a number that may already be listed in their books to try looking it up for themselves first.

To the rest of our customers, who call 411 only when they really can't find a number, we apologize for the delay.

And we want to remind you that, when you really have to call us–for example, if you're handicapped, need numbers from out of this area, a new listing, or when you've looked and just can't find it–we're still here to help.

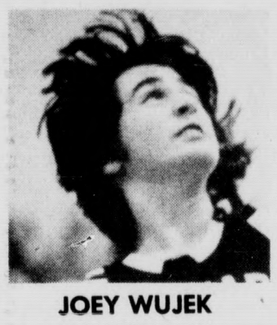
Schoolboy basketball teams have this inherent problem. If they want to win the championship, they've got to rely on talent within the district's boundaries. No fair luring a 6-3 teenager across town with lofty promises about free skateboards, or cushy jobs mowing the principal's lawn.

Churches, on the other hand, or service organizations, aren't bound by recruiting shackles. Both institutions, for sure, stand foursquare behind decency and honesty. But technically, they can sign up the vilest of heathen in quest of a basketball title.



JOEY WUJEK

This is the time of year when their big recruiting push is on. Once high school basketball season closes, (that includes the glut of greater and lesser post-season tournaments) the real prep powers go into training.

The best high school players are united under the banner of a lodge or church. They play against similar teams from other cities. And they make high school coaches drool.

Basketball's alphabet fued between T.O.C. and N.C.S. left lingering doubts this year over who the best team really is. Could it be Northern California champion Castlemont? Or perhaps North Coast titleist St. Joseph's.

Most likely it's neither.

The strongest team on the court this season belongs to the Concord Elks, or Livermore's Church of the Nazarene. Each has skimmed the cream from East Bay basketball and churned it into super power all-star squads.

The Concord club is gearing up for the big Bushrod Invitational Tournament of Elks Clubs in April.

Livermore's team, meanwhile, is readied for the first round of a three-state Nazarene Church Tournament beginning Saturday.

Once the preliminaries are finally shoved aside, perhaps the two clubs can meet head on. The winner might gain an at large berth to the NCAA championships.

Vern Forry of the Concord Elks has recruited a number of Contra Costa all-leaguers, including 6-7 Doug True of College Park, and John Kochan of Campolindo, the team that won an N.C.S. AA championship.

In Livermore, Rev. Don Jenkins of the Nazarene Church has landed eight EBAL players to open the annual church tournament. The talent includes two-time All-EBAL guard Ted Wood, who will switch over to the Catholics next winter at St. Mary's College. Joining him will be all-league teammate Curt Groth and Joe Wujek, another all-star, from Granada High.

Also on the team is Rev. Jenkins' son, Tim, and Don Stebbins of Livermore. Jeff Evert, Ken Ebert and Brad Wood, all of Granada, round out the roster.

Each year Rev. Jenkins recruits a team. The players compete in a Northern California tournament which will be held Saturday at Livermore High.

The winner advances to a district tourney in Santa Rosa and the survivor goes to the Southwest Regional Championships. They are played at Nazarene-owned Point Loma College in San Diego.

The tournament, as you might guess, is a fine recruiting tool employed by the Point Loma basketball coach.

Livermore's team has won the Southwest title two years in a row. It plays against teams from Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico.

"I think we've got enough guns to go all the way again this year," says Rev. Jenkins.

His church team has gained in stature until now he is turning away youngsters. They make plans to join his team midway through the regular high school season.

Tournament rules allow church's to recruit youngsters. The one requirement is that they attend church services six times in the 10 weeks prior to playing.

As any college coach can tell you, recruiting is a nasty word. More so in the clergy when a parent suspects a minister of tampering with some youngster's religion. "A couple of our players are Catholics," Rev. Jenkins points out; "and we had to assure their parents we weren't making Protestants out of them.

"All the kids have to do is sit in church. Nothing else. But I think that they come to enjoy it."

Especially when the basketball team is winning and gaining a berth in the Point Loma tournament. All of the players are transported to San Diego by bus for three days. Not too many high school coaches can promise that to their prospects.

Livermore opens its title defense Saturday at 9:30 a.m. facing a Concord team. It could be a tough matchup, warns Rev. Jenkins, if an ominous rumor proves correct. Someone let it leak out that True, the 6-7 College Park monument who has more than 100 colleges yearning for his body, has signed to play with Concord.

That sets up a thrilling duel with Wujek and Groth of Livermore.

It could also touch off a conflict because True's Elks team is supposed to play Saturday.

Which just goes to show how fierce the competition for players is once basketball season ends.

Foreman aims for Joe

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier and George Foreman, who want to clear up the past and move to the future —another shot at Muhammad Ali — came face to face in Manhattan Thursday to formally announce their rematch. Foreman has already started training in Texas. His home in Livermore is up for sale.

The site of the fight is not set yet, and promoter Jerry Perenchio said it will be held in late May or early June.

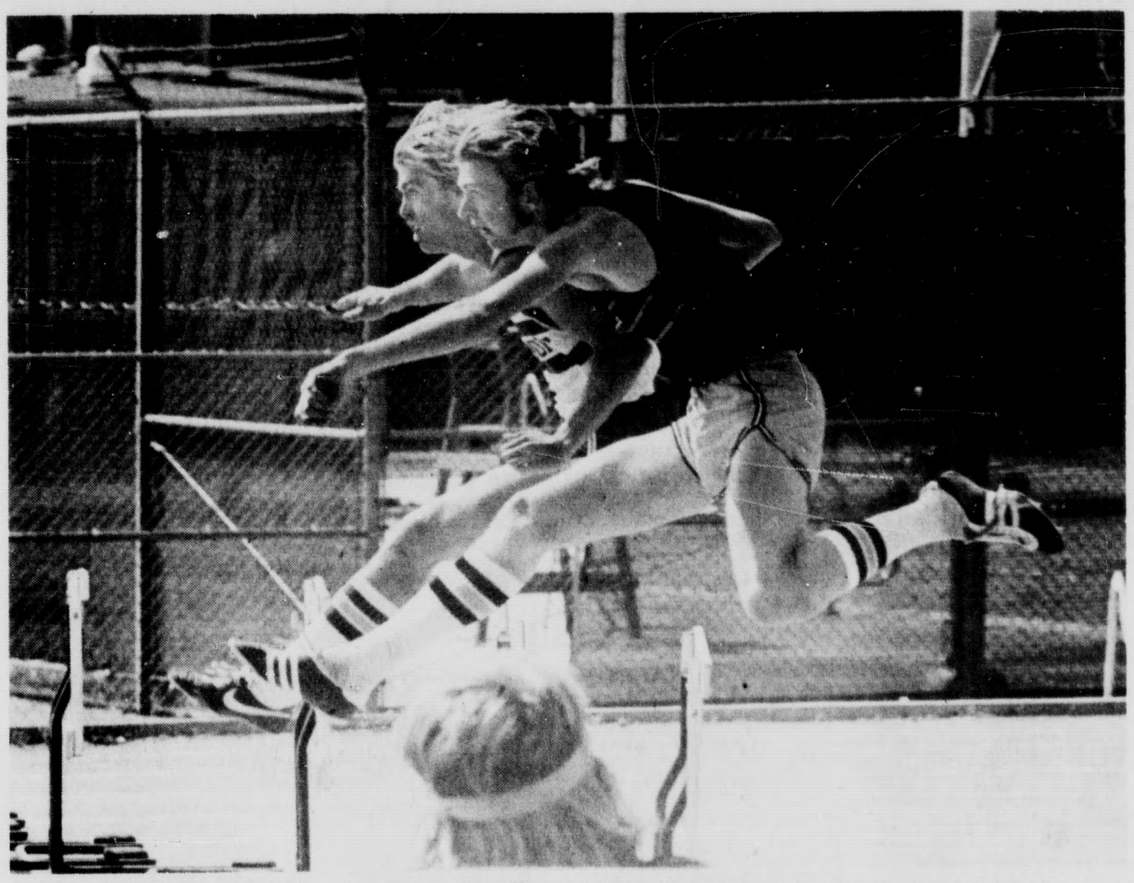
In Kingston, Jamaica, on Jan. 22, 1973, Foreman won the heavyweight championship of the world by knocking Frazier down six times and stopping him in the second round.

The fight was the low point of Frazier's career, the high point of Foreman's, which went sour with his upset loss to Ali in Zaire on Oct. 30, 1974.

Foreman is convinced a second win over Frazier will bring him a shot at Ali.

"It's been two years now," said Foreman.

Frazier, who has appeared in three great fights with Ali, including a classic 14-round loss last Oct. 1 in Manila, also admitted he wouldn't mind trying the champion again.



Granada High School's excellent hurdler, Scott Campbell (dark jersey) was not in action yesterday when the EBAL track season was supposed to have begun. Campbell and his mates were rained out along with the rest of the EBAL teams. No date has been set yet for the Granada - California make-up meet.

Heavy rains postpone league track openers

Mother Nature let loose with a heavy downfall of rain showers yesterday to postpone the opening of the East Bay Athletic League's track and field season.

Amador and Livermore have re-scheduled their track meet for Monday on the Dons' track. Monte Vista and Foothill will meet Monday, April 5, and San Ramon and Dublin will compete May 4 on the Wolf track. Granada and California have not re-scheduled their meet yet.

The Amador-Livermore meet Monday could help decide the league dual-meet championship. Both teams are rated near the top of the EBAL.

Livermore has a strong distance corps led by senior Boyd Tarin, currently on the injured list. However, sophomore Victor Aquayo has run a 10:02.0 two-mile for the Cowboys and seems certain of breaking 10:00.0 in the near future.

Amador is paced by 440-880 man Rick Pruneau who can also run the mile relay.

Livermore is also strong in the weights with junior Wade Andrade and the pole vault with three men capable of clearing 12 feet or better.

Granada, San Ramon and Dublin should also field strong squads this season.

Matadors eighth in baseball poll

Unbeaten Granada High is rated eighth in the first baseball poll released this morning by the East Bay Prep Writers Association.

The Matadors, who finished their exhibition season with a 3-0 mark, and open the EBAL campaign a week from today, received 71 points from the panel of voters, compared to 133 for top ranked Berkeley High.

The Yellowjackets picked up eight first place votes in the balloting. Fifth-rated Alhambra had the only other vote for the top spot.

Besides Granada, Monte Vista represents the EBAL on the initial list of East Bay powers, holding the 13th position in the polls.

Both the Mustangs and Matadors engaged in the fight for the EBAL pennant last season before falling to Livermore.

Both are expected to battle for the crown this year.

The Matadors are counting on a veteran pitching staff headed by Steve Stone and Tim Duke. Newcomer Bob Parness will probably break into the rotation during the season.

Junior Scott Trudeau has provided the muscle for Granada through the pre-season. In the last two games Trudeau has six hits in seven at - bats with seven runs batted in. The junior has already belted three home runs and a pair of triples.

Most EBAL schools have concluded their exhibition schedule, although Dublin High will play today at home against Pacifica.

Pacific Invitational

EBAL swimmers compete

Individual performances will be the highlights of the Pacific Swimming Invitational Saturday at John Muir Junior High School in San Leandro.

The meet will begin about 10 a.m. and conclude about 1:30 p.m.

Amador, Granada, San Ramon and Dublin are the EBAL representives in the meet. 16 of the better prep squads in the East Bay Area will particpate.

According to meet director Bob During of Pacific High School, there will be no team scoring in the tourney. Medals will be given to the relay winners, however.

Amador coach Chuck Volonte will bring his entire varsity squad to the tournament.

"We see this tourney as an early-season conditioner for the athletes," Volonte commented. "There will be numerous types of relays involved. Different in distance and style from most relay events."

Dublin mentor Tim Hern plans to bring four athletes to the invitational.

Mark Steinhouff, Victor Hinjosa, Kevin McKenna and Glenn Hoxie will compete in three relays for the Gaels. The four athletes will swim the odd-ball relay, 200-freestyle, and 400 individual relay. The odd-ball relay consists of 500, 200, 100 and 50-yard legs.

Hern feels his team is coming along well, particularly in view of the fact the Gaels haven't been able to practice in their pool much because of leaks.

"I was really impressed with some of our times Wednesday against Granada," he said. "It's hard to say how good we'll do in league competition. This league is very-well balanced."

Other teams included in the invitational include Berkeley, San Rafael, Tennyson, Pleasant Hill, Campolindo, Bishop O'Dowd, San Leandro and host Pacific.

Marquette takes on Indiana

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Second-ranked Marquette used balanced scoring and a scratching, clawing defense to dump 10th-ranked Western Michigan 62-57 Thursday night and earn a spot opposite No. 1 Indiana in Saturday's NCAA Mideast Regional basketball finals.

Marquette registered its 23rd consecutive victory shortly after the undefeated Hoosiers held off a late rally to trim sixth-ranked Alabama 74-69 behind the 25-point scoring of All-American Scott May.

May scored the go-ahead basket with 2:01 remaining and Tom Abernethy and Bob Wilkerson each added two free throws.

Gaels edge California

Cold winds and a wet course affected play but Dublin High School went on to take a 211-226 victory over California in an opening match of the East Bay Athletic League golf season yesterday in San Ramon.

Greg Mona and Jack Stevenson each shot 37s to spark the Don win over Granada. Other Amador scores included Tim Burns with a 38, Scott Peters with a 40 and Mitch Fleeior with a 41.

Jeff Rhodie paced the Matadors with a solid 38. It was Granada's third overall loss of the season.

Carl Richardson of Monte Vista and John Raspanti of Foothill shared 39s for the highest scores in the Mustang - Falcon match at Round Hill. However, the Mustangs' balanced proved to be the difference as Ron Low had a 41 and Tom Starter a 42 for Monte Vista. John Riggs shot a 43 for the next highest Foothill score.

Granucci's wins, 39-38

Ben Green's technical foul shot with four seconds left in the game lifted Granucci's to a 39-38 win over Turtle Grease in Livermore Recreation Basketball Wednesday.

The last second heroics capped Granucci's comeback from a 21-9 intermission deficit. Green scored eight of his 12 points in the second half to buoy the Granucci rally. Teammate Marcello Barbano, who finished as high scorer with 13 points, contributed nine in the second half.

Turtle Grease was paced by Rich Zwakenburg who scored 12 points. Steve Cochran had 10 points, while Irv Lindemuth and Pat Benapfl had six apiece.

Lee Dewy and Mike Wills sparked New York Life to a 34-23 win over Ideal Drayage, in other action.

Dewy and Wills scored 10 points apiece. J. Chubb added nine.

For the losers, Leo Bietermann scored 11 points, and Bob Landon had six.

In the only other game, the Celtics bombed Pizza Arcade, 55-41. Pete Toleman scored 14 points for the Celts and Randy Alviso followed with 13. Mike Guiterezz, Jeff Moore and Nick Nardune all scored eight points.

A light in the railroad tunnel

From Elko, Nevada comes word of railroads and government that just might bring light to our own communities, somewhere at the end of that long, long tunnel.

Briefly stated, the Federal Government has finally agreed that the problems resulting from two or more sets of tracks slicing up a city are more than that community can be expected to resolve. The railroads and the nation — both of which profit from those rail systems far more than does that single city — should be made to absorb most of the cost of track relocation, underpasses and so forth.

Elko has been selected as the "pilot project" for what will amount to a $16 million job aptly named "Elko's Lifesaver." Seventeen grade crossings, involving parallel sets of tracks in an eight - block area, are to be removed or avoided in this grand venture. The feds will pay 95 percent of that total cost with the city, state and rail firms sharing the balance.

That will come too late for Livermore which just got through hammering its way past reluctant property owners and self - serving rail giants to merge two sets of tracks through that city, and provide just two undercrossings. The total cost will be something like $4 million, with the city (through its gas tax funds) stuck for almost $750,000.

If Pleasanton were to try to duplicate that Livermore effort in a move to eliminate just the worst of the 20 - plus grade crossings in that city's boundaries, the cost would run to millions And it is doubtful if Western Pacific and Southern Pacific would want to participate in Pleasanton's financial venture, since they have would have little "downtown property" profiting from such relocation, as they had in Livermore.

No matter how cities approach the problem of multi rail systems and numerous grade crossings, the road to real relief is long, tough, and costly. It is time the United States Government got as generous with its cities as it once did with those rail barons, when they gave away every other section of land to rail developers, and on which those enterprising &investors founded our cities. We have long since been deprived of the benefits originally promised in that exchange; but we are not spared any of the problems.

Somebody should come up with a better equation.

Rotating mayors

The city councils of Livermore and Pleasanton both may be blessed this year with no hurt feelings and no lingering factionalism as fallout from the annual process of choosing a new mayor.

We hope so. But in the recent past the annual council reorganization in both cities has left hard feeling for many months. This is not a good atmosphere for doing the work of the city.

Rotating the mayor's job according to seniority of the council members is the best way to overcome the factionalism inherent in the current selection method. In cases where members have equal seniority, the person who gathered the most votes at the election would have the top seniority, a way to inject the will of the people, however obliquely, into the process.

If we were talking about large cities with full - time mayors, battles for the mayor's chair might be in order. But the mood at Livermore and Pleasanton council meetings is still "small town" and the mayor basically is a gavel - wielder, not a leader of a political faction. The office is low - key and the selection process ought to be that way, too.

Granada's Jack Lee

Editor, The Times

The Livermore School Board recently issued a statement regarding the possible reassignment of Mr. Jack Lee, principle of Granada High School.

I merely wish to say that as long as I have known Mr. Lee he has been an understanding man who is truly in tune with the needs of the students. As a student at Granada and living on the other side of town, I must say that the sacrifices I have made to attend Granada have been well worth it. I have derived great pleasure from my learning experiences there.

My concern is solely for Mr. Lee and for the school which I have enjoyed so much.

"Another Booster"

Editor, The Times:
From: Virginia Gregory
To: Jack Lee — Granada High

It seems that a few people in this town who dare to do something different, something more advanced, something for the good of the community and the people in it, get persecuted.

It has been so all over the world since the beginning of time.

Hang in there and fight for your ideals, Jack! Without free thinkers like you, where would this world be? You will sleep at night, those who oppress you will not.

And there are those of us who do appreciate what you've done and we will support you all the way.

Fast food kick

Publicity releases flooding newspapers offtimes get short shrift and those concerned with such subjects as nutrition and health in general are usually no less exempt.

But times are changing and families, especially those in the suburbs, have become more aware of good and bad nutritional habits.

To some degree this is a paradox since "junk foods" seem to be flooding not only the urban market places but the suburban ones as well.

It has always been our contention that adults and children often take the easiest and quickest way out when it comes to food.

To many, the "fast food" operations have become a way of life.

Why we do not deny the economies derived from frequenting such establishments, it nonetheless is done at a sacrifice to good nutrition.

But the question of nutrition does not begin and end with the nearest "fast food" establishment or hamburger stand. It also involves products that can be found in other markets.

We speak of those foods that have additives that are potentially dangerous to the health and well-being of adult and child alike.

In this regard, we would like to call attention to a free program being planned at the Family Medical Center, 9260 Alcosta Blvd., San Ramon, Tuesday morning.

The program is one that every parent who can afford the time (or make time) should see. "How Safe Are Food Additives" and "Following Your Diet While Feeding the Family" are the topics two dietitians will discuss at the nutrition program planned for the center's lecture room.

In honor of National Nutrition Week, the free program will be presented from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

So many of us are the hand puppets of old man time. To complete our job, family or other personal duties, too often we "rob" our bodies to "pay" for time at other activities.

At some time in the future, it will probably catch up with all of us.

The effects of additives frequently lead to hyperactive children.

A "hyper" child can be everybody's problem. Too often it surfaces in the form of unruly behavior.

As a teacher several years ago, I can recall one youngster who was the epitome of a "hyper" child. And he was an extremely bright student.

The wonder is that it has taken so long for us to understand what causes this perhaps we just haven't had the time to listen and understand what nutritionists have been saying for years.

Good health starts in the home and the patterns of the adult are often those of the child.

For those who have the time and interest, perhaps a self evaluation of our eating habits could begin by stopping by the Family Medical Center in San Ramon next Tuesday morning.

Letters to the Times

Don Miller again

Editor, The Times:

Mr. Miller continues to amaze me with his low opinion of the average citizen and taxpayer; he seems to think only he is right and omnipotent!

Mr. Miller is quoted as saying "The building of a city is like the building of a cathedral" and this statement from the councilman who wanted to deny us the privilege of Christmas decorations or First St.! In my opinion, Miller knows little about building a city and even less about cathedrals.

He leaves the city council with a community divided against itself, a city manager complaining about an impossible budget, safety depts. who have been refused funds in budget hearings of past years, a city professing a philosophy of no growth but which has hired an industrial aide while saying some city staffers may lose their jobs next year!

This city existed Very Well before Mr. Miller and his cohorts arrived. It will exist Very Well after they leave if they keep their hands out of our general fund.

Candidate Kinney

Editor, The Times:

It is ironic that Ed Kinney would choose, as one of his prime reasons for seeking a seat on the Zone 7 Board, the reason that he wants to increase the integrity of that Board by his presence on it.

He has thus introduced an important issue into this election: Should the Zone 7 Board, which inherently has to study and rule on this area's specified engineering and scientific considerations pertaining to water, be staffed with community leaders having a basic background of experience in science and engineering, or should it be staffed with leaders having no background in science and engineering (i.e., laymen, for that Board's basic requirements)?

I shudder at the thought of the voters choosing the latter. If they do, the Board will deteriorate into just another political sham controlled by vested interests through their followers for their envisioned gains.

The public must be brought to realize that Zone 7 was created to intelligently and conscientiously control specified engineering and scientific aspects of water management, and provide the facilities requires for all the people within its boundaries.

Therefore, let us elect to the Board only those candidates who are qualified technically as well as having leadership ability. There is an ample number with these qualifications.

Zone 7 Board membership truly encompasses much more than just political maneuvering of water facilities. Technical expertise is also a valued requisite.

Love those girls

Editor, The Times:

My family and I recently had the pleasant weekend experience of housing two delightful girls from your community who were members of an under - 16 - year - old girls' soccer team, the Pleasanton Patriots.

The Patriots were here to participate in a girls' soccer tournament, and since we are an soccer family with three younger boys, we went to see their first game. We were so impressed by the Patriots' skill, enthusiasm, and sportsmanship, we became their fans and saw all three games. Individually the girls were superb athletes; as a team their play was flawless. The Patriots are undoubtedly the most exciting American youth soccer team — boys or girls — we have seen in Santa Rosa. Needless to say, they easily won the tournament.

The most impressive thing about the Patriots (and this includes the girls, parents and coaches) was their positive attitude about the game. Although extremely competitive on the field, they never failed to cheer excellent play by their opponents. They set a fine example for skill and sportsmanship that I hope will be a goal for my boys and Santa Rosa youth soccer.

This healthy attitude obviously is a result of the many good things in your community, your school system, and the Pleasanton Soccer League. I am sure you are very proud of your soccer program and we look forward to seeing other Pleasanton teams competing in Santa Rosa in the near future.

Cleaning up

Editor, The Times:

To the Joker who suggested to one of the Valley newspapers that all garbage can's be painted in bicentennial colors ... what garbage cans are you talking about? The entire city is one huge garbage can. Take a good look at the community park after a soccer game, the high school campus and the entire area around it. All the parking lots through out the city. It sure would require a lot of paint.

Let's clean up the city and keep it clean, then we can talk about being patriotic.

Anti — Letter
Pleasanton

round the town

I met a mother recently who had set aside one day of that busy week to "to take the kids from Oakland to Stockton and return, on the train." So why the big urge to visit Stockton?

"Nothing, really, except that our youngsters have never been on the train. I wanted them to learn that there are ways to go places, other than by jet."

Sad to relate, the American choo choo has been relegated to the nostalgia department. Like the buffalo and the cigar store Indian. Nice to remember. But you wouldn't want to own one.

These days, hardly anybody wants to own a railroad. Or even ride one. Some suspicious types argue that the railroad barons have conspired to bring about this passenger resistance. More profit in hauling cars and cows. Let Greyhound, PSA and them others worry about the fussy humans.

It's particularly bad here on the west coast. About the only time folks get steamed up over a train (other than hauling the brats to Stockton and back) is when somebody cooks up a nostalgia trek. There seems to be more money in short - haul, narrow - track trips through the redwoods, or around the Nut Tree Restaurant, than there is along the passenger routes of yesteryear.

The Sierra Railroad advises us of a full summer's series of these quickie trips. "Throughout the Tuolumne Vacationland." Trains with names like "Mother Lode Cannonball" and "Spring Flower" and "Baker - Sierra, Stagecoach." Using some of that old - fashioned Yankee salesmanship that the railroad people resisted with a passion.

"Let the people eat coal smoke." That was the standard pitch. And we did, for mile after long, cross - country mile. Still, there was a quality about train travel, the passing scene, the friendly folk, the high noon stopover, that is foreign to the high - flying jets and those kerosene airports.

The rail systems of our past were something more than surface transit. They were the beginnings of cities, the life line of local economy, the very reason for being.

I was looking at a map: the other day, of the Canadian prairies. The place where I began. And I was startled to observe the tight network of lines that radiated out from just one modest "agricultural center," linking that hub to a hundred lesser hamlets, many of them claiming no more than a few score permanent residents, but each with railroad station, water tower, grainery, stock ramp.

One precisely every ten miles, in fact. That was the Canadian Pacific Railway's plan. Those earliest trains needed to water up every ten miles, coal or ice (for the refrigerated cars) every 100, a chance to rest, or turn around, every 300.

It was on no grander master plan than this that Canada is today measled with a hamlet every ten miles, cities precisely 100 miles distant, and each provincial capital spaced — with rare exception — just 300 miles from the next.

Historians tell us that it was the hardy hunter who first explored the rivers and mountain passes that led later to commerce and to travel; the land - loving European came to work the soil; the proud patriot gave us our politics.

But it is the layer of steel track who must get credit for the location of many of today's cities, particulary those throughout the newer western regions. We are a culture linked by parallel strands of rail, and little else. Now the tracks are turning to rust, and we must look for new reasons to exist.

I don't suppose that is the way it is in older countries, like England for instance. Their towns and trade and travel thrived long before somebody thought of burning wood to produce steam to turn a wheel. And yet, strangely, we learn that it is in Europe where the railroad business still enjoys its best trade, offering in turn its finest passenger service.

I plan to dig into all this, when soon my lady and I journey to England "Be sure to get the BritRail pass before you leave," the good folks at the Athenour travel agency advise. For just $80 an adult can travel anywhere and everywhere around the British Isles, one full week, first class.

It is, they assure us, the finest way to tour the land of Shakespeare, of Chaucer and of Henry with the wives. Perchance we will encounter Harold Wilson as a fellow passenger, freed from his prime ministerial burdens, now just roaming the countryside, viewing life from the luxury of first class coach.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

March 17, 1972 the toasts to old Erin were drowned and dimmed by the sound of wedding bells at the Little Brown Church in Sunol.

St. Patrick's Day never meant much to this old man until that alternately solemn and hilarious evening.

Now it is probably the most important anniversary in my life.

A lot of important things have happened to this old man in March.

I was born late in the month. Some one dear to me died early in March. And I was married on St. Paddy's Day.

Five years ago on the ninth of March I drove north through a driving rain, over Mt. Tamalpais and around Tamales Bay, skirting the valley of the moon and past lush green pastures dappled with the shadows of scudding clouds.

Grief was my companion and sorrow threaded the theme of my thoughts.

There is something to be said for the theory that those who weep for the dead are crying for themselves and their loneliness, not the passing of one they love.

I understood during those first, lonely days, the barbaric rites which send husbands to eternity in the graves of their wives, which sent the Pharoh's wives underground to serve their lord in a sealed Tomb.

Grief is mankind's first response to loneliness, nature's strange balm for fractured nerves which are torn by a premature parting.

It is the sister of selfishness, the product of a crushed and frustrated ego.

Believe me, I learned about grief. I saw the lonely years ahead, a solitary stairway to infinity, an epilogue to disaster and while I drove through the damp afternoon not all the moisture on my cheeks came from the rain which blew in through the open window.

Late that afternoon I walked with Little Black Max along the chalky cliffs which border Timber Cove and paused under Benny Bufano's towering statue of St. Claire which had been banished to the wilderness because the Jesuit priest who was president of the University of Santa Clara at the time it was cast objected to the hint of bosoms the pint-sized genius had included in its design.

I remembered then how deeply the wife of one of my closest friends had been involved in the three way battle between Benny, Jimmy Bacigalupe, then mayor of Santa Clara and the University and how, only a short time later, she had been killed in an automobile accident while riding home from a visit to our Los Gatos retreat.

The thought occurred to me that her husband had eventually recovered from his deep depression following her death but that he had never again been as close to me.

I wondered then what permanent marks my personal tragedy would leave.

There was a long, sometimes bewildering and eventually wonderful trail leading from March of 1971 to '72 and eventually to St. Paddy's day of 1976.

A long summer waited for me, a sometimes endless summer while I learned about living alone, discovered what happened to a single man when he entered a restaurant alone and how it felt to sit by myself in the wee hours with only a small dark brindle Boxer dog for company, watching television and waiting for sleep to come.

Then I discovered that for every low spot there is a high, that each valley is surrounded by hills. October came and my life changed. Months earlier I had told myself a man could not find happiness by chasing it, but had never been able to stop running.

Happiness and an end to grief crept up behind me in a classroom at a Danville intermediate school.

Without ever knowing it I climbed out of a chasm and to the top of one of the hills by which it was surrounded.

Sometimes I felt deep twinges of guilt plucking at my conscience because the world had changed so completely for me, turning a story around from tragedy to a happy ending.

Of course I knew by then that unless a man is deeply religious all of our stories are eventually crowned with tragedy.

But I could not believe the years that waited between my sudden status of widower and the end of the line could once again be full and worthwhile.

There have been four wonderful years since that evening in 1972 when the bell rang at the Little Brown Church at Sunol.

Which is why St Paddy's Day has a special meaning to me and why I always thank the jolly Irish saint for marking my wedding anniversary so clearly.

Lighter Times

(Note: I wish I had made up the following column, but except for a change of names and phone numbers for anonymity of the people involved, it happened to me last week. — R.M.)

One day last week I called Frank Frisbee at the regional postal offices in San Bruno. The operator there referred me to "N&N" in San Francisco where Frisbee allegedly was "spending the day".

The man who talked to me at N&N said, "Who's Frank Frisbee?"

"He works for the post office, has something to do with construction," I reported.

"This isn't the post office. This is N&N. You want RPP Financial. Try 687-5151."

I dialed the number and got RPP Financial and was told that there was no Frank Frisbee there.

"Well, the person at N&N said that I might find Frisbee at RPP. I don't know much about these government letters. What do the letters 'RPP' stand for?"

"It doesn't stand for anything," she said "We're a financial investment firm."

"You mean you are not part of the federal government?"

"No. Neither is N&N. I don't know why they gave you those numbers."

After hanging up, I dialed an alternate number in my file for the post office regional offices in San Fransico and asked for Frisbee. I learned he was out sick that day, but if I waited on the line I could talk to his replacement, Hugo Ripper. I waited a minute and a voice came on the line.

"This is Jack Smith. Can I help you?"

"I was waiting for Hugo Ripper."

"Well, Ripper is Acting Head all right, but he knew nothing about the Pleasanton project, so he asked me to take the call."

(I dedicate the above to all who have suffered at the hands of federal bureaucrats on the telephone.)

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This could be a profitable day if you're not looking for something to be handed to you on a platter. Rewards must be earned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be cooperative today toward one who has been helpful to you, though it may cause you some slight inconvenience.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You may have to tactfully remind your boss today of something you're entitled to so that it isn't overlooked.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's best not to leave something important today solely in the hands of another. Personal action is your only sure bet.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The results will be worth the extra effort you'll have to spend on projects you'll be involved in today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Regarding a serious matter that's been on your mind, there are positive alternatives available if you'll look for them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Material prospects are still rather favorable today, but don't expect a harvest in excess of the seeds you've sown.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In conversations today, try not to press your points in a heavy-handed manner. A light, witty touch is called for.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though you won't relish the task, don't let those indebted to you go too long without a gentle reminder.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You shouldn't have too much trouble today selling others on your ideas, especially if you tell it like it is.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The gains you're likely to make today may be small ones, but they could also be quite important. Be reasonable in your expectations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An opportunity that's not of immediate benefit may be presented to you today. Try to figure how it can be used in the future.

Bridge watchers can recognize the second-rate defender by his plaintive cry: "How was I to know?"

One way to know is to watch your partner's cards and see if he is trying to give you information.

East held the first trick with the ace of diamonds and promptly led the queen of clubs. West signalled as enthusiastically as he could by playing the four spot and East continued with the king. West completed the echo by dropping his deuce, but East was fresh out of clubs and had to let declarer collect the rest of the tricks.

West gave a plaintive cry but no one sympathized with him. The normal way for East to play clubs would have been to lead the king and continue with the queen. Then why did he lead the queen first?

To try to tell his partner that he only held two clubs and wanted his partner to win the second club and give him a ruff. West didn't know, but he might well have worked it out.

Ask the Jacobys

A Canadian reader asks if we would open the bidding in fourth seat with:

♠ x x x ♥ A x ♦ K 10 x x ♣ K 10 x x.

We are not vulnerable and the game is duplicate.

Our answer is a resounding negative. We are far more likely to lose match points than to gain in this situation.

Luncheon is served at Sunol's little brown church

SUNOL — Lena Reed of Sunol's Little Brown Church (United Church of Christ Congregational Community) on Kilkare Road, invites you to lunch in the church hall on any Monday until 2 p.m. for the nominal fee of $2. The menu is always different. Last week the generous lunch included salad, with a delicious blue - cheese dressing, enchiladas, Spanish rice and a lemon cake; plus all the coffee you can drink.

Lena does all the cooking. Some gracious church women help with the ret - up, clean - up and serving. She is one of some 50 people currently enrolled in the quaint historical church under the pastorship of the Rev. Brian Mahoney, an affable young minister whose already greying hair gives him an air of maturity beyound his years.

Because of its small enrollment, there isn't much extra money for needed church repairs. Mrs. Reed started the luncheons last year, because, as she modestly says, "Cooking is the only thing I know how to do" to help raise some of the needed money. She was able to raise $1500 in three months. This money was put to good use by Pastor Mahoney in renovating the inside of the doll - sized church which is such a popular marriage chapel that 50 were performed there last year.

Money raised this year will be used to continue the project and bring the chapel into "tip-top" shape inside and out.

The Reverend, who prefers to be addressed as "Brian," says he's lucky to have moved to a pastorate where there are so many good cooks. "I used to dread potluck dinners before I moved out here," exclaims, "Brian."

Lena Reed, who has lived in Sunol since 1958, has a motherly attitude towards her Pastor. Despite her 64 years she even accompanied him and another couple on a back-packing trip to Los Padres National Forest last year with 15 younsters from the Church. She's already looking forward to this year's planned trip to the Sierras. Her eyes dance when she remembers many of their sometimes harroving experiences.

She and all the church members exude an air of warmth and hospitality which awaits all of you every Monday for lunch.

Holy Cross

LIVERMORE — The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services at Holy Cross Lutheran Church. Serving as celebrant will be the pastor, the Rev. Milton C. Johnson. The Communion meditation will continue the Lenten theme of "The New Disciple Learns from Jesus" with this Sunday's message dealing with "The Right Source for Christian Living."

"The Passion of Jesus" is the theme of the Wednesday night mid-week Lenten service and Bible study. This informal, inspiring experience is for all ages — children and adults. This session will focus on "A Cowardly Follower" and is based on Mark 14:53-72. It will begin at 7:30 p.m.

St. Bartholomew

LIVERMORE — The third Sunday of Lent starts at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church with the service of Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and is followed at 9 a.m. by the Adult Christian Education program and Children's Chapel. The Rev. Richards holds the service of Holy Communion again at 10 a.m. while the Sunday school, nursery and pre-school classes are meeting.

Two adult Bible study groups also meet at the Church every Sunday evening. The women's Bible study meets on Tuesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. The service of morning prayer is said in the church each weekday morning at 7 a.m.

On Wednesdays at 10 a.m. the service of Holy Communion and Healing is conducted. A study on the Holy Spirit and you is held at the Paige residence in Livermore each Wednesday evening. A men's prayer breakfast is also held every Wednesday morning at 6:30 at Sambo's Restaurant.

The emphasis on Christian Education continues as Lent brings the Lenten potluck dinners on Thursdays at 6 p.m. with a time to join for learning. Prayer and Praise is a time of worship and prayer that starts at 8 p.m. on Thursdays at the Church.

MATCH workshop

DUBLIN— MATCH (Ministry to the Aging Through Community Help) is sponsoring a workshop on Saturday, March 20, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at John Knox Presbyterian Church, 7421 Amarillo Rd., Dublin.

Dr. Fritz Schmerl, noted gerontologist and former head of geriatrics at Fairmont Hospital will be speaking on the subject of senility. MATCH visitors will be available to share their visiting experiences. A panel of clergy will respond to questions regarding death and dying.

The public is invited to attend this free of charge educational event which will expose one to both the needs and the possibilities of the older person.

'Gospel Road'

DUBLIN— The Johnny Cash movie "Gospel Road" will be shown at John Knox Presbyterian on Amarillo Road in Dublin, March 27 and March 28. The Saturday showing will be at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 6:30 p.m. Although there is no admission charge an offering will be taken. Proceeds from the donations and from refreshments which will be sold will go towards the Youth Group of the church who are planning to join in a caravan trip to Arizona.

St. Clare

PLEASANTON — The Rev. William A. Smith of St. Clare's Episcopal Church will have a "Vicar's Dessert" each Thursday morning during Lent at 6 a.m. Members will meet for a quiet time of worship and reflexion followed by breakfast. Anyone interested should feel free to come and leave at their convenience

There will be a service of Morning Prayer on Sunday at 10 a.m. led by laymen Dick Rounds. The sermon will be given by the Rev. Smith. Holy Communion from the Book of Common Prayer will be celebrated at 8 a.m.

Always a helping hand

Pleasanton DeMolay this week donated $25 to the Alta Bates Hospital Burn Center in memory of Mary J. Hunter, a victim of this past Christmas' fatal fire on Chipendale Court. DeMolay men Jeff Schweig (left), Scott Mullin and Jack Thornton shared the honor with Pleasanton firemen Vince Sciortino and Ed Boddington of Engine Co. No. 1. The clubmen are in the midst of DeMolay week. Both Mary Hunter and her husband Frank died in the holocaust. (Times photo by Steve Atkinson)

Second proficiency test for non-grads scheduled

The second proficiency test, open to all 16 and 17-year olds in the valley who have not graduated from high school, will be administered Saturday, March 27 from 8 a.m. until noon at Amador Valley High in Pleasanton.

Conducted by Dave Yandell, Amador counselor, the examination will be given to 137 applicants from throughout the Pleasanton, Livermore, Dublin and San Ramon areas.

A Certificate of Proficiency will be awarded to those who successfully pass the examination by the State Board of Education. This certificate is legally equivalent to a high school diploma, however, certificate holders who have not regularly graduated from high school must submit verified parent approval in order to leave school before reaching age 18.

The first proficiency test was given last Dec. 20. Forty-seven Amador Valley Joint High School District students took the test at that time. Of the 19 who passed, 11 chose to leave school.

Hiring delayed pending review

DUBLIN — Valley Community Services District directors Tuesday night agreed to table the appointment of a new finance officer until director Richard Fahey can review the qualifications of the four candidates.

The board appeared on the verge of appointing Tim Larin, interim finance officer since December, as permanent finance officer - controller.

Larin is employed with the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency.

But Fahey stalled that action, reiterating objections he had stated last December. At that time, Fahey had suggested the person named as acting finance officer be prohibited from applying for the permanent post.

Fahey said this would give the interim officer an advantage over the other candidates.

The board did not sustain Fahey's suggestion, and Larin was appointed to the interim post.

Director Ann Jolley agreed with Fahey Tuesday night that it was "too bad it had to be done this way."

"It does seem as if his (Larin's) appointment was a foregone conclusion," Jolley said, "but I don't doubt that he's the best and should be appointed.

Director Chuck Ladner, one of two directors who interviewed the candidates, said Larin was "head and shoulders above the others."

The candidates were also interviewed by a panel of independent officials from other agencies. VCSD president Ron Hyde, who as a delegate to BASSA is familiar with Larin, declined to take part in Larin's interview lest he prejudice the outcome.

The appointment is scheduled to come before the board on April 6.
